HEARING NOTICE NEWS REPORTED

In a statement made today, James F. Rains, assistant project director, emphasized the importance of all persons appearing for leave clearance hearings who have received notices.

Although some of these may have asked for expatriation or repatriation and have no interest in leave clearance, additional information is necessary in these cases in order for the WRA to complete its records.

Rains pointed out that in many cases it was to the interest of the expatriating or repatriating person to give this information. Some persons have not appeared upon receipt of notices because they thought it unnecessary or of little importance.

With the coming of the December's pay check, one looks for a story behind the pay check and in true "radical with twisted mind" fashion comes out some "unpleasant" facts.

Approximately 5900 checks (clothing allowances and salaries), plus personal checks, are being cashed in this center monthly. Impressive, very impressive, but so what!

To start out with, you have a tremendous amount of $16 to some capitalists, $19; but many of us, after cashing it, have $15.95. (Say, come to think of it, if you cash 5900 checks, it'll be somewhere in the neighborhood of $300 in fees, wouldn't it?)

Well, anyway, after the terrible ordeal you go through trying to cash the checks, you really earn your $16, er...$15.95. Let's review an average "happy" worker who has just received his pay check!

Oh, it's a beautiful morning, a beautiful day, in fact he even likes Frank Sinatra today, for lodged deep in his deepest pocket is a check reading for an unheard of sum of $19. He steps into the canteen, and he is immediately thrown out with a greeting, "Get back in the line, get back." Line extends clear out to the athletic field, well not that much, but... Now he reaches the midway mark to the counter and one comes with, "Hi ya, pal, what's new?" and slithers into an immediate position in front of him. After four or five times of this, he is right back where he started from. (No shame, these guys!) So he ups and tries the same method and what do you know.... He's staring at a beautiful ceiling lined with the latest spider web. "Gee," he wishes, "I hope they're gentlemen enough to at least pick you up."

After a torturing half a day, he manages to crawl up to the window and with a great sigh of relief he places his "shiny new" check and....."So, so sorry, please! No money." Aaaaah, But this doesn't discourage our hero, he quickly sizes the situation and plans to outwit the early birds. When canteen opens the next day, our hero goes to the cashier's window, first one, and congratulating himself on his ingenious plans, he turns around....."Out to lumber-jacking. No checks cashed today," blurred the sign in front of him. "Oh,

Readers of the Rohwer OUTPOST have seen many sport editors who have come and gone. To refresh our memories, let us look back at them.

First of all, there was Fred K. Oshima, former sports editor of the Stockton assembly center paper, the El Joaquin, and initiated the editorial here. Fred was also a reporter for the Lodi Times and The Japanese Daily. Assisting Fred were three popular writers; Cho Cho Aratani, Thomas Nakamura, and Butch Hayashi. Cho Aratani, formerly from Los Angeles and shortstop for the Redondo Bombers softball team moved to Gila Relocation Center where he is carrying on his fine work as reporter there. Thomas Nakamura, from Lodi, California is now relocated in Chicago and doing very well. Butch Hayashi, also from Lodi is now back in this Center.

We remember the "Benchwarmer" very well, edited by that genial sportsman Kango Kunitsugu. Kango is a product of Los Angeles, California and edited that well known sports magazine the "Benchwarmer" from which developed his popular column the "Benchwarmer" here. An active member of the Royal Dukes, he and his magazine was well known as well liked by his readers. He is now warming the seat of a coal dumptruck.
